DEDICATION

This dissertation is expressly dedicated to the memory of my father, Hussein Osman who left us with the most precious asset in life, knowledge. I know that he would be the happiest father in the world to know that his son has successfully completed his master thesis. May Allah place his soul among the righteous; and to my mother, Amina Hagi Iman, for her continuous blessings and prayers and whose love and guidance throughout my life can never be repaid.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all I would like to thank ALLAH who allows me to complete this research successfully.

Second I would like to thank my supervisor Dr. Norsiah Binti Matt, for her endless support and knowledgeable correction and supervision. I am indebted to her for her direction, guidance, moral support, suggestion, encouragement and ideas that helped me during the course of this thesis. My thanks to her for the constructive ideas about this research he provided which assured me that it was actually possible to complete this work, without her I never would have finished this research.

After my almighty Allah who endowed me the completeness of this research I would like to convey my special thanks to my beloved father and mother without whom I would not get the light of the world. They are, namely, father: Hussein Osman (Caga-cade) & my mother: Amina Hagi Iman, who supported me morally and financially to conduct this research.

I am also giving special thanks to my best friends, first my room-mate Ahmed Abdirashid, Bander Alsubhi, and Abdulrahman Al Faqih, and my sisters Hamdi Hussein, Maryam Hussein, Su’di Hussein, Sara Hussein and my brothers Iman Hussein, Seyd-Omar Hussein, Yusouf Hussein, Sa’ed Hussein, and Zaky Hussein for their honest and continuous assistance, substantial suggestions, encouragement, data collection, contribution and preparation during my research and interviews process.
I will be always grateful to friends of Utara Universiti Malaysia, particularly, Ahmed Jamaa, Ali Mahdi, Ahmed Abukar and all my colleagues of Mogadishu University those who influenced and contributed to this research directly and indirectly Specially Da’ud Musse.

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

1.0 Introduction to the study

Organizational commitment has an important place in the study of organizational behavior. This is in part due to the vast number of works that have found relationships between organizational commitment and attitudes and behaviors in the workplace (Porter et al., 1974, 1976; Koch & Steers, 1978; Angle & Perry, 1981).

Organizational commitment has been studied in the public, private, and non-profit sector, and more recently internationally. Early research focused on defining the concept and current research continues to examine organizational commitment through two popular approaches, commitment related attitudes and commitment-related behaviors. The research develops the relationship between human resource management practices and organizational commitment.

Many researchers point out that human resource management practices on organizational commitment have remained a topic of interest ever since it was introduced in the early 1960s to the field of human resource management (Eisenberger et al.1990; Samad, 2006; Wayne et al., 1997).

There are many scholars indicate that the interest is a result of the belief that if properly managed, organizational commitment can lead to beneficial consequences such as improve performance, reduces turnover, organizational effectiveness and reduced absenteeism (Cohen, 2001). This result has potential organizational benefits in the large numbers of studies that focus on the nature of organizational commitment.
