ABSTRACT

This study conducted to find the relationship of the independent variables, which are employee engagement, organization citizenship behavior and organizational commitment with the dependent variable, which is the organizational performance in Saudi Arabia Telecommunication Company.

This study is limited to identifying some factors that may affect organizational performance. These include employee engagement, organizational citizenship behavior and organizational commitment. The setting for the study is a Telecommunication company in Saudi Arabia called Zain. The total populations for this company were approximately 2.200 employees including all levels. Out of this number, a total number of supervisors level are 110 employees. Otherwise, the researcher will limit the study for only supervisory level in this company; the primary objective of this study is to examine the relationships between employee engagement, organizational citizenship behavior and organizational commitment and organizational performance. This study is important for several reasons. Firstly, recognizing a positive relationship between, employee engagement, organizational citizenship behavior, organizational commitment and organizational performance; secondly, to clarify the problem and barriers encountered in the application of human resource programs in the a Telecommunication company in Saudi Arabia in the context to the case included in this study thirdly, to participate in and contribute to research, resulting in Knowledge increase, and lastly, to assist scholars and other researchers in the HRM field.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

All PRAISE, gratitude are given to Allah for the help me and blessing in completion my work and giving me such a great strength patience, courage, and ability to complete this project.

Although any learning activity is a lonely personal project, it requires help, support and encouragement of others to be successful. Just as an eagle could not soar without the invisible strength of the wind, I could not have arrived at this place without all invisible hands that provided me that strength. I would like to present my humble appreciation and gratefulness to all the people who made this journey possible. I am in debt to those who knowingly and unknowingly were so helpful and important in the difficult moments.

Firstly, my deepest appreciation goes to Assoc. prof. Dr. Mohmad Yazam Sharif who has provided unlimited amount of encouragement and professional support. She valued my commitment to self and lifelong learning and all the while supporting my professional endeavors. Thank you, Dr. Mohmad Yazam Sharif, for your always-positive attitude and outlook; you are an incredible supervisor and an outstanding leader.

Secondly, to Dr. Norizan Haji Azian, who has provided expertise, knowledge, support and coaching during my undertaking HRD class with her. The highest compliment I can say to a lecturer like you is: I have learned from you.

Thirdly, to Dr. Norazuwa Mat, who has provided her expertise, knowledge, support, and coaching. You are so kind person thank you.
I wish to thank Dr. Ghazali Din for proof reading my project paper, talking out ideas, providing technical and psychological assistance, and for guiding and supporting my efforts to succeed in this programme.

I am grateful to my friends who know the meaning of friendship and to my class member who only could be described as a great team. Most of all, I extend my gratitude to the Saudi Arabia Telecommunication Company (Zain) employees for their willingness to participated in this study.

I again like to thank Allah, The Sublime, The Majestic, for instilling in me the courage and strength to complete this study. May Allah, in His infinite Grace and Mercy, accept this humble effort.

To all those people, thank you so much.

CHAPTER 1

1.1 INTRODUCTION

Nowadays the management paradigms are becoming more human resources. Companies need their employees to contribute their creativity, ideas, and opinions to various issues to improve overall company performance. Employees may be instructed, even forced to do their job, nevertheless, no one can force another person to follow their dreams and passions in a normal work situation. Developing creative ideas and finding passion for one's work requires personal responsibility (Peters & Waterman, 1982). Covey (1997) explained that it is possible to purchase man power but it is not possible to purchase employees' hearts, minds, and souls. These days, the most significant resources of an organization are employees' intelligence and abilities (Marshall, 2000). In order for any organization to utilize the intelligence and the productivity of personnel, the employees must feel a sense of belonging to the organization.

Employees play an important role in achieving organizational performance; therefore, analysis of their psychological characteristics and the impact of these on the organization are crucial. Organizational commitment, citizenship behavior and engagement in particular, have been a major field of study in recent years. So this study attempts to examine the influence of these three variables on the performance of Saudi Arabia Telecommunication Company.
