ABSTRAK

Kajian ini adalah satu kajian pemikiran Antonio Gramsci (1891 – 1937) dengan membuat perbandingan dengan seorang negarawan Malaysia, Mahathir Mohamad (1925) dan mengaitkannya dengan dinamik Politik Ekonomi Antarabangsa. Tujuan kajian ini adalah membuat rujukan kepada penulisan Gramsci sebelum Prison Notebooks berserta pembentangan Gramsci atas trajectori sejarah hubungkait kewangan kapitalis dan perang selaku tapak hegemoni dunia Anglo-Saxon pada zaman Gramsci sehingga dewasa ini. Kajian ini juga memperkenalkan kontradiksi dalam bloc sejarah Neoliberal; dan memperkenalkan potensi pergerakan Mahathir dalam menyusun satu counter-hegemony baru agar terbinanya satu bloc sejarah yang baru. Kajian ini berbentuk kualitatif dengan mendalami dialektik epistemologi Gramsci yang berteraskan ‘falsafah praxis’. Terdapat dua pergerakan counter-hegemony Mahathir Mohamad; pertama pembinaan bloc sejarah Dinar Emas; kedua pergerakan Menjenayahkan Perang. Pergerakan-pergerakan ini dilihat sebagai war of position ke arah pembentukan bloc sejarah alternatif. Walaupun pergerakan-pergerakan ini masih dalam tahap awal, ia menjanjikan kemungkinan perubahan dalam orde dunia masa kini.

Kata Kunci: hegemoni, counter-hegemony, war of position, bloc sejarah, kapital kewangan, dinar emas, penjenayahkan perang, politik ekonomi antarabangsa.

ABSTRACT

This is a breakthrough in the study of Antonio Gramsci's (1891 – 1937) political thought, in its comparison with a leading Malaysia statesman named Mahathir Mohamad (1925-), as well as linking them to International Political Economy dynamics. The purpose of this study is to draw rich access to Gramsci's pre-Prison Notebooks and his articulation on the historical trajectory of connections of finance capital and war as the basis of the emerging Anglo-Saxon world hegemony. It covers Gramsci's lifetime and to the current era. It identifies the contradiction within the Neoliberal historical bloc; and the potential of Mahathir-initiated movement in organizing a new form of counter-hegemony as a new historical bloc. The study employs the qualitative research method underpinning the dialectics of Gramscian epistemology of 'philosophy of praxis'. There are two major assertions of Mahathir's counter-hegemony; first is the construction of a Gold Dinar historical bloc; and second is the movement to Criminalize War. These movements are considered as Gramscian war of position toward the formation of a new form of alternative historical bloc. Although these movements remain at an early stage, they offer the possibility of change in the prevailing world order.

Key Words: hegemony, counter-hegemony, war of position, historical bloc, finance capital, gold dinar, criminalize wars, international political economy.

CHAPTER ONE

INTRODUCTION

Capitalism is a world historical phenomenon and its uneven development means that individual nations cannot be at the same level of economic development at the same time.

Antonio Gramsci, ‘The Return to Freedom . . .’, Avanti!
(26 June 1919)

1.1. Objective of the Study

This is a study of Antonio Gramsci’s theory of hegemony and counter-hegemony. It will elaborate on the significance and relevance of his theory in the understanding of international relations. The study will depict Dr. Mahathir Mohammad’s prime international agenda covering both his critique of international financial order, the returning gold dinar exchange economy and war as an international crime, all as major parts of an international hegemony move.

This study attempts to apply and expand Gramsci’s concept of hegemony. Hegemony is defined as the leadership of any given dominant social force through the consensual and coercive means within a given historical bloc, which explains further the relations among the social forces which are mainly depicted with the concept of hegemony and counter-hegemony. Furthermore, at the national level, hegemony is exercised by the dominant class. The international relations is recognized as the competition of national dominant class in order to establish a certain of global historical bloc that consists connections of ‘national’ politico-economy formation (the national
