Note

1. Third Party Copyright Materials

   A copy of the approval from the third parties must be attached to the form.

However, the University recognises that there is a case where approval cannot be obtained. If this occurs, kindly discuss with your supervisor to put the material in the appendices that are not included in the main content or remove it from the thesis / dissertation.

Please ensure that the coherence of your thesis is not affected by this step. Or else, the access to your thesis will be restricted.

2. Restriction

Restriction in this form refers particularly to e-thesis version only.

Restricted thesis cannot be loaned to other users via Interlibrary Loan (PAP) even though the printed version is not blocked.

Restriction is due in less than 3 years and the University will use its reasonable consideration for cases beyond that.

E-thesis Restriction shall be applied based on the following reasons:

a. Commercial Contract

   Sponsor contract states that the thesis should be kept confidential for a certain period.

b. Awaiting Patent

University or sponsor has applied for the invention as disclosed in the thesis to be patented. Thesis will be restricted until the issuant of patent.

c. Third Party Rights

Thesis protected by the third party copyrighted material will be blocked until it is free from copyright, unless it can be removed from the thesis as mentioned in Note 1 .

d. Awaiting Publication

There are publishers who consider general thesis as accessible as prior publications. If you wish to publish material from the particular thesis, you can apply for thesis to be restricted.

e. Data Protection

This matter will be decided during the presentation of the research proposal by the committee involved.

f. Others

This requirement is dependent on the type of research. You have a choice to remove materials and attach as appendices and limit the access to attachments only.
